Chemically Active Matter

Ramin Golestanian
MPI/ Oxford University
ramin.golestanian@ds.mpg.de

All forms of life depend on the conversion of chemical energy into non-equilibrium activity. In this lecture, I will review a number of key ingredients that make such processes possible, and present synergies and routes to self-organization that emerge from this simple paradigm.